

Student Handbook

The mission of Texas Dance Conservatory is to develop versatile, healthy dancers, to contribute to the dance community through professional collaboration and to inspire a passion for artistic excellence.

To this end, students who choose to study with us agree to abide by all policies and procedures included in this handbook, and to follow the instruction of their individual teachers and leadership of the Conservatory. Whether a student has recreational or professional aspirations, the Conservatory is committed to providing a safe, inclusive environment in which students can develop their skills and discipline in the art form. In keeping with the philosophy of the Conservatory, students are encouraged to begin with a strong foundation of classical ballet technique and to continue working in this genre throughout their training. Building from this solid foundation, the Conservatory will expand dancers' versatility and provide instruction that is developmentally appropriate for each student.

Regular attendance in classes is paramount to a student's continued success. A student's placement in class levels is dependent upon many factors, including his or her unique skills development and quality of work. Placement is at the discretion of the Conservatory Director in consultation with the student's instructors.

Instructional Terms

The instructional year is divided into two semester-long terms, fall and spring, which mirror an academic school year. Additionally, master classes and workshops are scheduled periodically throughout the year and in the summer. Summer intensives are planned to begin in 2016.

For all schedules, please consult the calendar at www.TexasDanceConservatory.org.

Performance Opportunities

Parent Observation Week

During the last week of the fall semester, parents are invited to sit in and observe technique classes. This will allow them to see the skills their dancers have been mastering in each class.

Annual Spring Recital

Each technique class will perform in the Conservatory's Annual Spring Recital. These performances provide students the opportunity to demonstrate skills they have mastered during the year, as well as work on their performance techniques. Although rehearsals for these dances will take place during regularly scheduled dance classes, they will not consume the entire class time. This will help to ensure that technical progress is still being made as students prepare for the recital.

Recital fees are included in June's tuition. Letters will be sent in December notifying parents of the amount due for recital costumes. Costume fees are due with January's tuition.

Conservatory Performance Ensemble

Texas Dance Conservatory started its very first audition based Performance Ensemble in the fall of 2016. Down the road we plan to have multiple companies. The purpose of this ensemble is to create more performance opportunities for our students so they can strengthen their performance skills as well as helping make Texas Dance Conservatory more visible in the community. Auditions for this ensemble are held each September and is only open to students enrolled with Texas Dance Conservatory.
